DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed 4/25/05 has been considered in preparing this Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 29 and 38-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jiang et al (6,614,441 hereinafter "Jiang") in view of Bae et al (6,256,045 hereinafter "Bae").

Jiang teaches a system (Fig. 1) for displaying images comprising a first processor (180) for decoding the images in a decoding order; and a second processor (graphics controller 140 or video capture engine 200 and video overlay engine 220) for determining a display order for the images. However, Jiang fails to explicitly teach or suggest, the first processor prepares the decoded images for display in the display order determined by the second processor and the display order is different from the decoding order. This is what Bae teaches. Bae teaches a device and method for processing picture in MPEG decoder (50) comprising a memory controlling part (12); an interface part (11); a video decoder (60) includes a video decoding part (61) and video format converting part (62); an image presenting part (14); and an external memory (20). Bae further teaches the order of pictures to be decoded and an order of picture to be displayed is different (col. 2, lines 13-36). The image presenting part (14) stored the decoded picture in the memory in an order of display (col. 2, lines 18-25). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the present invention was made to replace the video stream decoder of Jiang by the teachings of MPEG decoder of Bae because MPEG decoder are well known and widely used in the art in order to obtain better picture quality. Therefore, at least claim 29 would have been obvious by Jiang and Bae.

As per claim 38, Jiang teaches the images are selected from a group consisting of pictures, frames, top fields and bottom fields (col. 9, line 31 to col. 10, line 27).

Claim 39 is similar in scope to claim 29, and Jiang additionally teaches a processor (110); a memory (130); another processor (140).

As per claim 40, Jiang teaches writing the decoded images to another memory (160).

As per claim 41, Jiang teaches writing the parameters to another memory (registers 310-330).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 30-37 and 42 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 39-42 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
